01 Information and Ideas

Researchers compared two city blocks during a heat wave. Mature trees shaded most sidewalks on one block, where sensors recorded an average afternoon sidewalk temperature of 32°C. On the block with few trees, the average was 38°C. The researchers noted that traffic and building materials also differed between the blocks.

Which conclusion is best supported by the passage?

○ A Trees caused the entire 6°C difference in temperature.
○ B The shaded block had a lower measured temperature, but other factors could have contributed.
○ C The researchers measured air temperature rather than sidewalk temperature.
○ D The two blocks had identical traffic and building materials.

02 Expression of Ideas
